

Morrison Bruce Center Desktop website before the design overhaul

<https://web.archive.org/web/20170812194558/http://www.jmu.edu:80/kinesiology/cppagw/>

Project goals:

- Refresh the look and feel of the website: incorporate a new logo and update the fonts to align with University branding updates
- Make the website responsive: The old layout was fixed width and had no modifications to make it friendly for smart phones or tablets.
- Simplify the layout and make it easier to navigate the website.

The screenshot shows a desktop website for the Morrison Bruce Center at James Madison University. The header features the university name, the department name 'Department of Kinesiology', and the center's name 'Morrison Bruce Center' with the tagline 'Dedicated to Enhancing the Lives of Girls and Women'. A navigation bar includes 'Support Us | Contact Us' and a logo of a stylized figure. A left sidebar contains a menu with items like Home, History, Research, Resources, Get Involved, Notable Women, Our People, News, and Support Us. The main content area has sections for 'Our Mission', 'Our Vision', and 'Our Values', each with descriptive text and a list of values. A photo shows a woman coaching a young girl on a golf course. A right sidebar lists 'Program & Events' such as Healthy Kids, Girls Have H.E.A.R.T., Girls Golf, and Movin' and Groovin' Day, along with a 'Calendar' section for Girls Golf events in Spring 2016.
